A Few Words from Fr Joe.....

Every September, in parish life, we have the feeling of starting again, with the summer break well behind us and the whole cycle of First Communions, Confirmations, Advent, Christmas, Lent and Easter to come. Some parish groups took a summer break and are meeting each other again with renewed energy and fresh vision. Naturally some parish volunteers have stepped back after giving years of generous service and we are deeply grateful for their service. Some groups are feeling the pinch, trying to share out the many tasks and are seeking new volunteers to join them, fresh energy and new beginnings are a very healthy part of parish life. I've been reflecting a lot on parish leadership and the Synodal process during the summer months. For many years we have been encouraged to adapt to the model of 'Co-responsibility' harnessing the commitment of clergy and the laity in a cohesive mode of working together for mission. Now we are asked to add the Synodal way of bringing prayer and listening into every aspect of working together in the family of the church and all our parish activity. My gentle guidance to every group as you start your work together, please bring up Synodality, check in with each other to ensure that you are well informed and able to embrace this aspect of our common life.
